

In December 2000 , in a lonely village in the north , I heard a cry in the night

I looked through the window ... and went out on tiptoe . I was walking in the street when suddenly...

I saw a little girl , she was lost in the forest and she was crying ... she was wearing a red hood on her head and holding a small basket full of cookies ... little Red Riding hood , I thought !

The wolf was chasing her ... I wanted to help ... I found a stick on the ground , I took it and hit the animal with it ! the wolf fell on the ground , it didn't move anymore

I took my friend's hand the sun rose and we got back home together : she was safe now !
